

Københavns Universitet

The Antiquities Trade in Egypt 1880-1930

Hagen, Frederik Norland; Ryholt, Kim

Publication date:
2016

Document version
Other version

Citation for published version (APA):

Hagen, F. N., & Ryholt, K. (2016). The Antiquities Trade in Egypt 1880-1930: The H. O. Lange Papers. Copenhagen: Kongelige Danske Videnskabernes Selskab. Scientia Danica. Series H. Humanistica 4, Vol.. 8

The Antiquities Trade in Egypt 1880-1930

The H.O. Lange Papers

By Fredrik Hagen and Kim Ryholt

Scientia Danica. Series H, Humanistica, 4 · vol. 8

DET KONGELIGE DANSKE VIDENSKABERNES SELSKAB

© Det Kongelige Danske Videnskabernes Selskab 2016
Printed in Denmark by Specialtrykkeriet Viborg
ISSN 1904-5506 · ISBN 978-87-7304-XXX-X

Submitted to the Academy December 2015
Published xxxxxx 2016

Contents

Preface	7
Introduction	11
Materials and Scope	15
The Antiquities Trade in Egypt	22
Lange's mission	22
Jonna Lange	27
Language, bargaining skills, and Egyptological knowledge	28
Socio-economic aspects	29
The antiquities service as dealer	45
Buying antiquities	52
The geography of the antiquities trade	65
The antiquities market in Cairo	76
The antiquities market in Kafr el-Haram at Giza	93
The antiquities market in the Fayum	99
The antiquities market in Qena	101
The antiquities market in Luxor	102
The antiquities market in Sheikh Abd el-Qurna	113
The antiquities market in Alexandria	115
The market: seasons, wars, and buyers	115
Dealers travelling abroad	118
Objects not bought on the market	119
Acquiring antiquities through excavations	119
Dealers' methods of obtaining antiquities	122
Dealers' handling of antiquities	130
Morals and ethics in the antiquities trade	131
Laying down the law: attempts to curb the trade	133
Fakes and forgers	147
A Tale of Two Heads	152
Honest dealers: Building up a reputation	157
The aftermath	163
The Hunt for Papyri	164
The beginning	164
Wish for a papyrus collection	164
Acquisitions of papyri during the first visit to Egypt 1899/1900	165
Lange as Head Librarian	168
The Formation of the Papyrus Hauniensis Collection	169
Other acquisitions	171
Acquisitions during the second visit to Egypt 1929-30	171
Some disappointments	174
Acquisitions after the second visit to Egypt	175
The formation of the Papyrus Carlsberg Collection	178
Refraining from further acquisitions	180
Antisemitism - Merikare comes to Copenhagen	181
Assessment of papyrus acquisitions	182
The Antiquities Dealers	183
Conclusions	275
Appendix I
Extracts of the 1912 law governing the sale and export of Egyptian antiquities	278
Appendix 2
Licenses issued by the Egyptian Antiquities Service	284
Appendix 3:
Antiquities dealers mentioned in the Baedeker guides to Egypt	285
Appendix 4
Organisation and salaries of the Antiquities Service, 1908	288
Appendix 5
Haj Hamid and the Brigand	291
Appendix 6
H. O. Lange's background and autobiographical presentation	296
List of Figures	300
Bibliography	304
Index	317